

How to download an image for your desktop

NOTE: These instructions are PC-based.

First of all, select the resolution you need for your monitor. The dimension options available are given next to the images.

Once you click on one of the dimension options, the image will appear in another window.

Then...right click on the image and select

1. "Set As Background..." This will save the image to your computer and automatically apply the image as your background.
or...
2. "Save Picture As..." This brings up a windows dialog box that gives you an option to save the image in a Windows directory.

Windows 7 opens up a default window directed to 'Libraries/Pictures'. Save the image to this default location and then go to the control panel (from the Start Menu) and select "Appearance and Personalization" then select "Change Desktop Background". You should then see 'Picture location:' with a dropdown list. Make sure 'My Pictures' is selected. You should then see all the custom images you have available to use for your desktop.

Volia!
